

“When Saturday’s Night Gives Way to Sunday’s Dawn”

Luke 24:13-35 – Easter Sunday – April 16, 2017

We live in “_____” – the parenthesis between what God has _____ and what yet awaits _____

An amazing thing happened on the road to Emmaus – _____ showed up!

The disciples gave in to the _____, doubt, and disillusionment and headed in the _____ direction – vv. 13-16

They were moving _____ from what they needed most _____ from God’s people and God’s resources of grace makes us _____ to the lies of Satan and hinders our healing

In the uncertainty and confusion of Saturday (while we wait for Sunday’s dawn) we learn some things about Jesus:

1-Jesus does not let us _____ but _____ us patiently – vv. 17-24

What have you done with the empty tomb?

2-Jesus does not _____ us but reminds us all of His _____
vv. 25-27

Their eyes were _____...their hearts were _____ and _____ from seeing God’s plan and promises

The disciples were “_____ of heart to believe” – Where are you slow of heart to believe God’s promises in your life?

3-Jesus does not _____ Himself on us but awaits an _____
vv. 28-29

Where in your life do you need to invite Jesus in to take over?

4-Jesus does not _____ Himself but _____ Himself / lets Himself be known intimately – vv. 30-35

What situation / circumstance in your life do you need to face squarely in the _____ and _____ of Jesus Christ and say,
“I will not be your _____ any longer!”

B/c we are more than conquerors through Him Who loved us, we can “sing like never before and worship His holy name.” Saturday’s night will give way to Sunday’s dawn – Hallelujah! Even so, Lord Jesus, come quickly!
